

STATIONERY

A STEADY STREAM
of stationery and office supplies flows from the store to our customers, and another stream replenishes the stock. This is kept up to a condition where betterment is impossible.

STATIONERY
from the best manufacturers in each line fills our shelves, and little money will transfer the ownership. The proof of the value is in the quality.

MOTIVES FOR INSURANCE

differ. We paid an Endowment last Thursday and the man said it was just the same as finding money. We asked him how he came to insure in the first place, and he said his girl's father asked him to, and at that time he thought anything Maria or her father asked him was little enough for him to do for such nice folks. Now he and his wife will take a trip to California with the proceeds of the money saved by Endowment insurance. Annuity rates will be advanced July 1, 1905. 56th year, doing business in 42 states.

No Secret About It.

It is no secret that for cuts, burns, ulcers, fever sores, sore eyes, boils, etc., nothing is so effective as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "It didn't take long to cure a bad sore I had, and it is all O. K. for sore eyes," writes D. L. Gregory of Hope, Tex. Only 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy and the Parlor Drug Store.

The children are requested to sit with their Sunday-school teachers in the front of the church. Early in the service the rite of infant baptism will be performed. Parents whose children are to be baptised should be at the church by 10:45 a. m. In the evening there will be a Children's Day concert by the Sunday-school.

Henrietta Crossman.

Henrietta Crossman, the leading American dramatic star, who is coming to the Barre opera house was the first woman on this side of the Atlantic to stage a play. Miss Crossman, who is gifted with many talents, is always her own stage director. Of course there is an official designated to attend to details at performances, but at rehearsals and during the formation period of her production.

tions, and in fact all the time, Miss Crossman is the guiding genius. She was the first woman in this country to act as a stage director, and that she was a success is shown by the fact that the play she guided through the shaping process ran for two years in New York. So successful was she in this line of endeavor that she has continued to direct rehearsals to the present time. Indeed, every detail of her productions are under Miss Crossman's personal supervision. She passes judgment on costumes, color schemes, light effects and all accessories of the stage pictures.

GRANITEVILLE.

A BLOW TO YALE.

Con Daly of Eli Crew Accused of Cribbing at Exams.

New Haven, Ct., June 23.—Con Daly, No. 2 in the Yale varsity eight for three years, has been formally accused of cribbing of an examination in his studies. Ly Prof. Hollon A. Ferr, the Yale faculty member who had charge of the examinations in studies given the Yale oarsmen while the papers were at the Yale crew quarters at Gale's Ferry.

If the charges are proved he will be dropped from the university and cannot row in the Yale-Harvard regatta a week from yesterday. His removal will be a bitter blow to Yale's chances, if he is dropped, for he is one of the strongest and most skillful oarsmen in the country, as well as one of the oldest college rowers in any American university.

GEORGE FRED WILLIAMS ILL.

Former Massachusetts Democratic Leader in a Hospital in Havana.

Boston, June 23.—A message was received here yesterday stating that George Fred Williams, former representative and former Democratic state committeeman, is ill at a hospital in Havana. Mr. Williams was taken ill while visiting in Mexico, and was on his way home by steamer. His condition became serious and he was compelled to go to a hospital when the vessel reached Cuba.

Supreme Court's Seal.

One of the sights at the Capitol that is well worth seeing is the great seal of the United States supreme court. For beauty of design, convenience of handling and superb workmanship in every respect, it is not excelled by any device of the sort in the country. It is probably not equaled by any other seal in the city except the seal of the state department. The most wonderful part of this seal is that it embodies some innovations, and innovations very seldom creep into the sanctum in which the United States supreme court holds sway.

In fact, the court absolutely reversed its time-honored seal, the temptation to reverse something being the only incentive that could have influenced the court to make a change in anything in its possession. The old seal had on its face an eagle with drooping wings. It was a sorry-looking sort of bird and so it happened that after the United States had become a well-established world power the court thought the wings ought to be raised in the air. The wings were raised and the bird was given an expression of exultation in place of that downtrodden cast of countenance it had formerly worn. It was really a belligerent bird and reversed and revised. When the court saw it it was feared that foreign powers might think the United States was putting on airs and was typefying in the breezy eagle the alleged stick that is said to be hidden in official quarters. So they looked it over with a view of introducing some more pacific feature and they conceived a plan to do it. On the old seal the eagle held the olive branch in its right claw, with a bunch of arrows in its right claw. That read "war and peace." The judges simply reversed the emblems, so putting the olive branch in the right claw and the arrows in the left, which gave "peace" the first place in the emblematic figure. Thus they secured an eagle that looks warlike, but is toned down by making the peaceful olive branch stand for its first and main impulse.—Washington Star.
